

I must surrender my beautiful and fun 5 year old pit/lab mix named Maya. She's bizarrely intelligent and learns new tricks at the drop of a hat... doesn't require too much exercise, and very sweet.

Maya does not get along with small dogs.

I know Maya can be a great dog for the right home For the right owner Maya will be fun, loyal, and entertaining.

She's great with tricks - she'll cheerfully stand up for you, and if you make 'gun fingers' and yell "Bang!" she'll fall over and play dead!

She's just a great dog, and she can be your great dog.

It breaks my heart to have to give her up, but I would badly like help finding Maya the right owner.

Can you help?
